God uses the very unlikely

By William L. Trimyer

GOD USES THE UNLIKELY
Lesson for October 31, 1982
Bible tudy Passages: Numbers 22:4-6, 23:7-23, 24:16
INTRODUCTION

A straight-lined theology envisions a God who thinks and acts in strictly predictable ways. Many people find it attractive to believe in a God who is controllable. If God can be kept in a box, then we don't have to stretch our imaginations to keep up with him. We know where he is and what he is going to do. At all times he is under our constant surveillance.

It's when God steps out of the box or off predictable paths that we become concerned. Sometimes we don't give God the permission to "act out of character" or to overstep our long-held traditional boundaries. Of course, God does not really require our permission to act, but he would like us to be open to the idea of his "unlikely" means of working in the world and with individuals.

This week's lesson focuses upon a singular character in the Old Testament who became useful to God in his dealings with Israel. Perhaps the name of Balaam is totally unfamiliar to some, but we may remember him in connection with the story of Balaam and his talking ass.

IN A PINCH (Numbers 22:1-7)

When we find ourselves between a hard place and a rock, we may wish for a magical wizard to rescue us. When the Israelites were about to enter the land east of Jordon, the king of Moab sought help from a seer. His fear of a possible Israelite conquest moved him to panic.

Balaam was the one chosen to lay a curse upon the invaders, for he had earned a reputation for his power to "bad mouth" certain people. We do not know a great deal about Balaam,but it appears he may have combined certain pagan practices, drawing from numerous religions including reference to the Hebrew God.

Balaam must have been an opportunist because of his willingness to respond to Balak's request. A DEED FOR GREED (Numbers 22:9-35)

Balaam probably had dollar signs for pupils! When approached by Balak, he saw the request for his services as a way to earn some quick bucks. But God comes to Balaam and tells him that he is not to go out and pronounce a curse upon the Israelites.

When Balak heard from Balaam that he would not pronounce a curse upon the invaders, he sent word that the rewards for his help would be significantly raised. Balaam was certainly attracted to the plush offers of the King of Moab, so he sought to change God's mind in order to reap some of the rewards. It is interesting that God consented to let Balaam go, but not before he had a peculiar experience of talking with the ass. Balaam speaks with his ass as if it were a natural occurance, thus, there is humor in this charming story.

In the end, however, Balaam's ass taught him an important lesson, namely, to be sensitive to spiritual influences.

FROM CURSE TO BLESSING (Numbers 23:7-24:11)

When Balaam went out to respond to King Moab's request for a curse against the Israelites, he instead pronounced a blessing. Balaam spoke at the direction of an angel. When the king took Balaam to a pagen "high place," he had nothing but good things to say about Israel.

Balak decided that a change of environment might make a better impression upon Balaam, so he took Balaam to Mt. Pisgah. Upon arrival Balaam spoke even more positively for Israel. Not to be outdone, Balak took Balaam to a third place whereupon Balaam refused to speak at all. In a fit of anger, Balak sent Balaam home emptyhanded but perhaps stirred in his soul by his encounter with God.

God can accomplish his purposes through ways and means we might consider unnatural.

ASK ANY THIRD-GRADER in Mrs. Carolyn Bondurant's (shown above at right) class where their heart is and they can tell you. They can also tell you where their liver, kidneys, gall bladder and other vital organs are, and their major functions. The students recently completed a study of the human body. As a culminating activity, Dr. Tracy Travis (above, left) from Lynchburg came in and helped the students place colored drawings of their organs into their own drawn body shapes. Along with the fascinating medical facts the children learned, they were surprised to learn that Dr. Travis is a woman. (Photo by Bill Sherrod)

In Lynchburg

Hearing aid seminar set

Mr. Dennis F. Farnsworth announced this week that the Beltone Hearing Aid Center, Lynchburg, will be holding a free three-day "Hear It All This Fall" consultation that is open to the public Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 3-5 from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the Fort Hill Village Shopping Center, Lynchburg.

Mr. Farnsworth said many people have misconceptions about hearing loss, so Beltone is planning this "Open house-type" celebration to encourage people to come in and get their questions answered. Mr. Farnsworth's staff will answer questions and will be giving electronic hearing tests -- at no charge or obligation. A copy of your test results will be made available for your doctor.

The Beltone Electronics Corporation of Chicago has prepared information booklets about hearing loss, for free distribution to everyone attending this "Fall Consultation."

Mr. Farnsworth said anyone unable to come to the Fort Hill Village Shopping Center for this free hearing test can call his office to make other arrangements.

For more information about the Beltone "Hear It All This Fall" free hearing consultation and the free electronic hearing tests, call 1-237-6294.

Homecoming planned at Pamplin

Pamplin United Methodist Church will observe its annual homecoming this Sunday, Oct. 31.

The morning worship service will begin at 11 a.m. with pastors, the Rev. Clarence Bowen and The Rev. Sallye Bowen bringing the message.

Following worship service, lunch will be served in the fellowship hall.

Beginning at 2 p.m. there will be a singspiration by the Providence Baptist Church Quartet of Red House. Also, special music will be provided by Linda Lindsey of Dillwyn. Offering is to be added to the present building fund for roof repair.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Mt. Shiloh News

In the absence of Rev. Yuille, the guest minister, Rev. Lydell M. Hubbard, associate minister of the Grace Baptist Church and the nephew of Rev. Yuille, occupied the pulpit and delivered the morning message. The sermon was a fruitful harvest for the members' inspiration. The senior choir rendered beautiful music for worship service.

The Central Baptist Sunday School Union will convene here Sunday morning at 10 a.m. Members are urged to be present as Rev. Yuille will preach the memorial sermon for the morning.

The choir and members are asked to go to New Life Baptist Church on the first Sunday, Nov. 7, 1982 at 3:30 p.m.

Thought for the Day
[Shared by Rev. Yuille]

Forget what is past. Finish each day and be done with it. You have done what you could; some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely.

Let us continue to pray daily for each other. Have a good week!

Locals place first

The Appomattox County Young Farmers forestry judging team placed first in the Annual Southside Area YF Forestry Contest in Pittsylvania County, October 19.

Members of the winning Appomattox team are Ray Cheatham, Bobby Wingfield, and Robert Coleman. Bobby Waddell is team coach.

The Snow Creek Young Farmer team coached by A. D. Ramsey was runner-up. Third place went to the Glade Hill YF judging team, John Watson, coach, and fourth place to the Nottoway team, T.H. Jenkins, coach.

Forestry judging includes estimating board feet, determining tree value, tree identificaiton, timber stand improvement and woodland management. The Appomattox team will represent the 17-county Southside Area in the state contest in Rockingham, October 28.

Market your black walnuts

By James A. Smith
Extension Agent

You have an opportunity to market black walnuts this year. The closest buying station is at Stewartsville on Route 24 east of Roanoke. They will be hulled and weighed at the buying station. Before delivering call Markham Milling Co. at 703-890-1400. Price is $8.00 per cwt. for hulled nuts.

Delivery should be made within one or two days after harvesting, because nuts will heat and ferment. Likewise, avoid delivery of frozen nuts.

It is my understanding that they do not hull nuts that are not offered for sale.

Because of the porous quality of most latex paints, an undercoat of non-porous oil-base primer should be used on new and bare exterior wood and old chalky oil-base painted surfaces.

Hydroflouric acid (HF Acid) is used in many home cleaning compounds. Read the label before using and wear rubber gloves if HF Acid is present. Severe burns to hands, respiratory infections and swelling and/or burning of eyes may occur if misused.

Computers are just around the corner. In a few years they will be common on farms and in homes. There's a lot of competition in the market place. Don't get in a hurry! If there isn't appropriate soft-ware to go with the machine, the machine has little value.

Several workshops are set up to help sift through the complex decision making of whether to invest in a computer -- if so, which -- sources of printers -- soft ware -- maintenance, etc.

These scheduled to date are: Micro-Computer, How Do You Use Yours in Your Farm Operation -- November 17, Richmond; Micro-Computer -- A Business Tool for the Farm Family - December 1 & 2, 4-H Center, Front Royal and January 12-13 - Fort McGruder Inn, Williamsburg.

If you plan to winter calves or yearlings, it will pay to put Rumensin in the feed. This additive will increase growth 5% and feed efficiency 8%. Working with a producer using his weight cattle and feeding program, the additive of Rumensin would add $10.00 per head to his gross income.

Rescue squad gets 80 calls

The Appomattox County Rescue Squad responded to a total of 80 calls during the month of September, with squad members travelling a total of 2597 miles and expending a total of 315 man hours in service.

Following is a breakdown of calls for the month of September.

Transport, 16; stand by, 5; auto wrecks, 4; miscellaneous, 21; heart attack, 3; abdominal pains, 4; chest pains, 8; dead on arrival, 2; convulsion, 3; stroke, 4; falls, 7; broken bones, 1; head injury, 1.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM S. BUTLER, owners of Stonewall Farm in Appomattox, purchased part interest in the top selling bull calf at Penn State's recent production sale. The bull, "P.S. High Pockets," is valued at $100,000. The animal, born Feb. 10, 1982 and a son of "Mr. Angus," will reside at Premier Beef in Michigan during his show career.

ASCS Today

Program for payments set

By Tom Conrad

ASCS SCHEDULES PROGRAM PAYMENTS FOR FARMERS - Appomattox County farmers will receive all of their wheat and barley deficiency payments and 70 percent of their corn payment in December.

Corn farmers will get their final check in April. The payments will go to farmers who participated in the 1982 acreage reduction programs.

We are currently conducting signup for the 1983 feed grain and wheat programs. Farmers who participate will be eligible to receive target price protection, price support loans, deficiency and diversion payments. When farmers come to the office to sign up, they may request an advance payment equal to half of their 1983 estimated deficiency and diversion payments.

The estimated deficiency payment rates are 21 cents per bushel for corn, 20 cents for sorghum, 15 cents for barley and 65 cents per bushel for wheat. Land diversion payment rates have been established at $1.50 per bushel for corn and sorghum, $1.00 for barley, 75 cents for oats, and $2.70 per bushel for wheat.

Farmers who accept advance payments and later decide not to participate in the program will be required to refund the amount of the payment plus interest.

The 1983 programs contain acreage reduction requirements and paid land diversion provisions. A combined 10 percent acreage reduction and a 10 percent paid land diversion is in effect for feed grains. The wheat program also provides for a combination 15 percent acreage reduction and 5 percent paid land diversion.

PETITIONS FOR ASC COMMUNITY COMMITTEE ELECTIONS - Farmers have through November 1 to turn in nominations for ASC committee election candidates. Farmers hsould keep in mind that ASC committee members provide an important service to the farm community by administering government farm programs. I hope farmers will participate in all the ASC election processes including nominating by petition.

Happiness is 4-H

By Frank Sweet
Extension Agent

4-H projects have been judged and will be returned to members at their November meetings. Each completed project has received a ribbon based on the Danish system of judging. 4-H'ers who turned in outstanding projects will be recognized at the annual 4-H Awards Banquet in January.

The first meeting of the new Red House Community 4-H Club will be held on Thursday evening, November 4, at the Red House Volunteer Fire Department Building. All young people, aged 9-19 and their parents, living in the Red House area are invited to participate in this new 4-H Club.

* * *

A number of 4-H members and parents are assisting with the fund raising program for Holiday 4-H Center. A 1983 Chevrolet Chevette will be given away by drawing on December 21. Donations for a chance on the car are $1.00 each. Tickets are available from the Extension Office for 4-H'ers or parents who are interested in helping with this project.

* * *

Appomattox 4-H'ers and FFA members will have the opportunity to participate in the Central Virginia Livestock Show on Saturday, May 7. Young people may exhibit beef steers, beef heifers and market lambs at the show which will be held at the Lynchburg Livestock Market. 4-H or FFA members who are interested in participating in the show are asked to contact the Extension Office or their FFA advisor for the show rules and regulations.

* * *

As 4-H'ers begin to plan for Share-the-Fun acts, it may be helpful to review the basic Share-the-Fun rules. They are as follows: (1) Each person performing in Share-the-Fun must be a 4-H member; (2) two to four people may perform in one act; (3) Each 4-H'er should perform in only one act each year; (4) Persons other than 4-H members may serve as an accompanist for a musical or vocal act.

The purpose of 4-H Share-the-Fun is to provide an opportunity for young people to perform and develop their talents. American Federal Savings and Loan provides special awards for Appomattox Share-the-Fun participants.

Food World president

Reagan appoints Hutchens

John G. Hutchens of High Point, North Carolina and President of Food World, Inc. was recently appointed by President Reagan to membership of the Advisory Committee for Trade Negotiations.

He was inducted on Friday, October 1, 1982 in Washington at a meeting of the Committee with Ambassador William Brock, the United States Trade Representative and Edwin Meese, Special Counsel to the President.

The Committee is appointed by the President and is composed of forty-five members from representative elements of the economy, all of whom are from the private sector. Its mandate is to provide overall policy guidance on trade issues for the extent to which they affect the nation's economy.

The meeting in Washington Friday was concerned with the upcoming GATT Ministerial to be held in Paris in November. Among other appointees by the President were William M. Agee, Chairman of the Board of the Bendix Corporation; Douglas Fraser, President of United Auto Workers; Albert H. Quie, Governor of the State of Minnesota and Phillip Caldwell, Chairman of the Board of Ford Motor Company. The committee Chairman is Mr. Edmund T. Pratt, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Pfizer, Inc.

The Committee meets several times a year as a whole to formulate Trade Negotiations policy which is submitted to the President.

The appointment is for two years.
